

Working at Le Riche Auto's is a passion! Even though we are part of the motor trade the projects are diverse and interesting and despite the challenges that accompany them our employees really are experienced in using their skills to the best of their ability...furthermore these skills are learnt on the job and we are grateful that you recognise the need for engineers rather than fitters. And although we began the business in the early nineties, during a recession, we believe we have grown and managed change effectively as an independent garage with purpose built facilities and a formidable team.

We are continually proud of our achievements and are pleased to have a presence worldwide flying the flag for Jersey. Each year we have tried to enhance the services on offer and invest in technologies that belie our small workforce. So please do take the time to view our updated website leriche.com and let us know what you think! Classic and vintage cars are a precious commodity in a niche market and with your support, we aim to continue providing a specialised services in a difficult marketplace in 2003 and beyond...

...TIME TRAVEL now possible

Why not take advantage of our new service, currently on the drawing board, where LRAR can source those cherished classics by travelling back in time to purchase them new and direct from the dealers saving pounds!! For example: a 1930 speed six Bentley VDP tourer, 2002 price circa £150,000 our price £2,230 saving a massive £147,770 or how about a 1964 E type 4,2 FHC or £3,000 and save yourself £27,000 on today's prices!

If only!!...well Christmas is known as the "silly season!". And for those who are already reaching for their wallets you'll have to hold fire until the road testing has been carried out on a recent project commissioned by Play.com. LRAR have been busy recreating the DeLorean time machine synonymous with the 1980's Hollywood blockbuster film "Back to the Future". We thought classic and vintage car parts can be difficult to locate – try sourcing a Flux capacitor, the nerve centre of the time machine!

Fortunately DeLoreans do have a cult following and many phone calls later we managed to track down the improved later version known as a Mr Fusion. The distinctive car with its stainless steel body, gullwing and various lights and exterior components mean you wouldn't miss this on the road! Despite only 250 cars produced from the Irish factory. This DeLorean's timely release from the past coincides with the 3 film box collection in December and will be seen nationwide in various promotional activities. Our only problem now is road-testing. We need to achieve 88.8 mph to time travel which means if Ian doesn't come back he's either in a time vortex or been jailed for speeding!!! Back to the Future boxed sets can be ordered online at play.com.

...Sales & Brokerage

Remember, we have a wide variety of vehicles available – just check out our website for the full listing, email on enquiries@leriche.com or call us for a mailing list and we'll be delighted to provide you with further details of the classic and vintage cars, currently starting from a very affordable £1,200.

...Meet the team

This season we meet Neil McKenzie, & Daren England who predominantly work on the restoration side of our business.

Neil: has worked in the trade for the past 11 years, starting out as an accident and repair specialist until 5 years ago. He is now an experienced coachbuilder /fabricator which basically entails beating sheet metal into panels and repairing body parts of rusted vehicles. In his free time Neil likes to try his hand at metal work sculpting and latterly armour.

Daren: joined the company straight from college and has now built up 11 years with us. He is an excellent "all rounder" specialising in fabrication and re-fitting. Daren being a true enthusiast spends his spare time restoring British motorcycles and tanks!

...Alvis TB14 – part 1

At Le Riche we quite simply revel in challenging projects so when this rare Alvis appeared (which was still driveable!!) requiring a full restoration it took a considerable amount of head scratching in deciding how to approach the project as the front bulkheads had collapsed, the door pillars fell off and the rear wings were held into position by fibreglass and pop rivets. The body shell has now been centralised to the chassis and the correct height calculated prior to bracing into position. A removable central rod has been fitted to enable accurate measuring. With all the old repairs removed we can slowly begin the task of unpicking the corroded sections, fabricating new and securing. We'll be following the Alvis' restoration over the year and hope it will give you a better insight and appreciation of the skill involved in turning out a concours vehicle from what appears to be scrap! You can also follow the progress on our website: under "current projects".

Jaguar XK

2002 has certainly been the year of the Jaguar for us. Of the ten or so locally owned cars almost half of them have been through our works this year for servicing, repair, restoration and the odd tweak.

The XK120, launched in 1948, with its looks and powerful XK engine capable of 130mph was an absolute milestone for Jaguar. Initially an all aluminium or 'lightweight' handmade version was produced before the mass production steel bodied cars rolled off the line in 1950. Amongst the XK120 & 150S we have worked on we have been fortunate enough to work on the oldest surviving XK's, No2 and No3. Owned by the same local collector they have recently undergone a through mechanical sort through making them more user friendly and driveable. If this type of car appeals to you then we have 2XK's currently for sale, details overleaf.
